First, let's go over some of the most common characters and sedations and how they're used. A prefix is a set of letters added to the beginning of a word to change its meaning. Each prefix has a general meaning, so you can understand what the word means with a prefix more easily. Let's look at an example. Friendly unfriendly first person seems very friendly! I think it would be nice to hang out with him. The other person seems unfriendly. I don't think it would be fun to hang out with him! We can see in the second sentence that we added the prefix un- to the friendly word. This un-prefix means no or the opposite. Here are more examples with the prefix un-: Happy ---> Miserable Finished ---> Unfinished ---> Unbelievably Acceptable ---> Acceptable These words are all adjectives. We can also use the prefix un- with verbs. Take a look at these examples: ---> Disable the plug ---> Hang up when you see a word that starts with an un-prefix, you can know its meaning by looking at the root of the word (the part that is not a prefix or suffix). That could be a word you already know! But, look out! Make sure you've seen the entire prefix before deciding what the word means. Take a look at the word below: let's try to find a prefix. Is it un-as undeveloped? No, that doesn't sound right! We know the word development, which means growing or being more advanced. That's the root of our word! Therefore, the prefix must be under, which means below, lower, or insufficient. The meaning of the word is underdeveloped. The following table contains some common prefixes, meaning, and a sample word. The prefix means no example, the opposite of disagreeing in, im- not wrong, impossible mistake- wrong to re-understand - again make (do again) un- not interesting underneath, low, insufficient underwater extension is a set of letters added to the beginning of a word to change its meaning. Each suffix has a general meaning, so you can understand what the word with an extension means more easily. Let's look at an example. loveable the pair is Married because they love each other very much. This teddy bear is so cute and kind! We can see in the second sentence that we added the sediment capable of the word love. This suffix capable means capable of being or able to be. So, the lovable word means something he can be loved, or it makes you feel love for it. Here are other examples with a capable or -ible extension (depending on the base word): present ---> present comfort ---> convenient hanging ---> reliable reach ---> accessible -capable is an example of an adjective extension. Every time you see a word that ends with a capable, it's an adjective. A specific extension is a noun extension. They always do a noun. For example, -ment talks about action or process: enjoy ---> pleasure to take care of ---> care govern ---> Do you remember the word developed that we were looking at a moment ago? The root of this word is to develop. The root is the same, but we used the noun appbed, so it's the process or operation of development. The following table has some common adjective suffix, meaning, and example word. The suffix means the word for example -capable, -ible capable of being terrible -full of beautiful -less not having, without any teeth and here are some noun suffix, their meaning, and a sample word. Extension means the word -doom place or state of freedom -er person who does worker action -ment or payment process status of being approved now that we have learned some common prefix extension, it's time to practice!
